

AALS Section on Jurisprudence
Annual Meeting Program Call for Papers

The Association of American Law Schools (AALS) Section on Jurisprudence will hold a program titled General Jurisprudence and Legal Doctrine at the 2024 AALS Annual Meeting, which will take place January 3-6, 2024, in Washington, DC. The program will showcase recent work that draws on general jurisprudence to illuminate particular doctrinal issues or whole areas of legal doctrine, as well as work that questions that move. The program's goal is to foster a critical discussion among the panelists and audience members about the (ir)relevance of general jurisprudence to doctrinal debates.

While the panel will consist primarily of invited speakers, up to two additional panelists will be chosen from this Call for Papers. Only full-time faculty members, fellows, and VAPs at AALS member law schools are eligible. All panelists, including speakers selected from this Call for Papers, will be responsible for paying their own meeting registration fee and travel expenses.

If you would like to be considered for the panel, please send an abstract of no more than 500 words to Matthew Shapiro (matthew.a.shapiro@rutgers.edu) by August 21, 2023.
